

HOW NEW YORK IS GOVERNED.

FRAUDS OF THE
TAMMANY DEMOCRATS.[New York Times Edition.]

INTRODUCTORY.

THE list of warrants which we publish below, fall exclusively under the head of New York County Expenditures. The boundaries of the City and County are identical—comprehending in each case the entire extent of Manhattan Island—their taxation falls upon the same people, and their chief representative boards—the Aldermen and Supervisors—are composed of precisely the same men. The division which was first effected for administrative convenience has been continued, in order to afford greater facilities for fraud.

The system of keeping accounts followed in both City and County bureaux is intentionally complex. In each bureau there are two separate sets of accounts—one of warrants drawn on account of appropriations, and one of warrants drawn on account of what is called “special account.” The warrants drawn on special account are not paid out of any appropriation, but out of a fund raised by the issue of stocks and bonds. The subjoined warrants contained in Section I., and drawn on account of the Court-house and Armories, can be charged under at least six different heads. The usual mode of procedure with certain accounts, is to draw a sufficient number of warrants to exhaust the appropriations in a few days, and then to draw on “special account,” as occasion requires.

During the years 1869, 1870, and part of 1871, in which, according to the “Ring’s” own acknowledgment, the sum of about $8,223,979.89 was expended on the New Court-House, the legislative appropriation for this purpose amounted to only $1,400,000. From 1858 to 1868 the Legislature appropriated the sum of $4,500,000 for building the Court-house, and in 1871 a further appropriation was made of $750,000. It will thus be readily understood that the assertion of Mr. ROBERT ROOSEVELT, the Democratic representative of the 14th Congressional District, that the New Court-house had already cost $12,000,000, is rather under than over the mark. The building is still incomplete.

In the neighboring County of Kings there was built, between the fall of 1861 and 1865, when work and materials were at their highest, a court-house which covers within one-sixth of the area occupied by that of New York. The structure is of marble, brick, and iron, and the internal furnishing is in most respects equal to and in many superior to that of the New York Court-house. The original cost of the building in Brooklyn was $551,758.28, and its cost up to the present time $745,601.51. The cost up to the present time of the unfinished New York Court-house would, therefore, be sufficient to build and maintain, during six years, sixteen such court-houses as that of Brooklyn.

The warrants which we now present are arranged under three separate sections. The first includes payments made to certain favored firms on account of work and materials furnished, or said to have been furnished, to the County Buildings and Offices, and to the Armories of the National Guard. We shall direct attention to such of these totals as are obviously and grossly fraudulent. Under the second section will be found the list of warrants paid for Stationery, Printing, and the total paid for Advertising. How closely leading members of the Ring are identified with these transactions will be fully explained.

Sec. III. contains the list of warrants drawn on account of a quarter’s rent of Armories and Drill-rooms on April 29, 1871. These payments will illustrate how false is the Ring plea that the “new regime” inaugurated a more economical system than that which prevailed under the old Board of Supervisors. It will be seen from this statement that every fraudulent lease made under the auspices of the old Board has been adopted by the men now at the head of affairs, and that they have added a good many more on their own account.

The warrants contained in Sections II. and III. are copied literally from the mass of County accounts sent by the Mayor and Controller to the Board of Supervisors, at their meeting of Wednesday, August 23,

ANDREW J. GARVEY.

ANDREW J. GARVEY, to whom the Court-house and the Armories have proved a perfect mine of wealth, rose, like his master TWEED, from humble beginnings. He was a "bunker" of the old fire department, and in the intervals of that exciting occupation, he did a little work for a brother in the plastering trade. Since he was taken up by the Ring, GARVEY has waxed rich and prosperous, and almost rivals the "Boss" himself in the palatial splendor of his mansion in Connecticut.

R. J. HENNESSY who appears to have aided GARVEY in his great plastering jobs, defies all attempts at discovery. He is utterly unknown to the trade. Mr. "J. R." HENNESSY wrote on July 25th, to the TIMES, stating that he had been for some time in GARVEY's employment, and had been for a brief space prominent in ward politics. But that he ever received a dollar from the city, either in his own name or GARVEY's, he explicitly denied. R. J. HENNESSY must, therefore, be set down as a myth, in spite of the very substantial sum of $62,488.18 which appears against his name on the County Record.

T. C. CASHMAN has no existence in the pages of the City Directory or in any known business. He may be one of GARVEY's workmen, or he may, like HENNESSY, be merely a "double" of the Prince of Plasterers. In any case, his name was made a pretext for paying away $64,090.49.

Fillippo Donnarumma, whose checks are in one case indorsed with the suggestive title of "Phillip F. Dummay," and in the other case with that of "Fillip Dummin," is the name of an Italian fresco-painter on Third avenue, near 10th street. That the name has been used mainly as a blind for obtaining money is extremely probable. The following are the amounts drawn by Garvey:

KEYSER & CO.

JOHN M. KEYSER is the only known member of the firm. The "Co." is supposed to represent TWEED. The "Boss" frequently visits the stores of the firm in company with GARVEY, and a number of men are employed in the establishment who have no pretensions to be workmen but are retained because TWEED wills it. Keyser's plumbing business, however, is carried on at Ninth street, corner of Fourth avenue, and at 211 Water street; he has a place devoted to the sale of stoves. Before obtaining corporation work Mr. Keyser failed several times in business, but he is now wealthy, and supports, at his own expense, an hospital and several other charities. The New York Tribune, when our exposure first appeared, intimated pretty decidedly that it had confidence in Mr. Keyser, and believed that he could supply an answer to the charge brought against him. But Mr. Keyser has been silent, and has apparently rested in perfect content under the imputations which the following accounts throw upon his character:

J. McBRIDE DAVIDSON.

J. McBRIDE DAVIDSON is a manufacturer of engines at Albany. The safes for which he appears to have been so liberally paid, do not receive the patronage of our leading bankers and merchants, as they are not fire-proof nor burglar-proof to the same degree as those best known in the trade. The New York show-rooms of Mr. Davidson are in one of Tweed's stores on Duane street.

J. W. SMITH.

JAMES W. SMITH is a remarkable man. He manufactures awnings, in a very unpretentious establishment, on the corner of Bleecker street and Broadway. Like KEYSER, corporation work has been the making of him, the patronage of TWEED having raised him from abject poverty to be the owner of horses and carriages. He is the only one of the Ring tradesmen who had the courage to defend his account. Awnings, such as he supplied to the Court-House, would yield a handsome profit at $12.50 each. SMITH says he got $150 each for his, and thinks he was not overpaid. Even at this exorbitant rate, 318 awnings could be furnished for the sum of $41,746, and, at the extreme trade price, the enormous quantity of 3,819 awnings could be furnished for this sum.

GREGG & CO.

Mr. ROBERT G. GREGG, the principal of the firm, is a gentleman of refreshing candor. He has supplied the city with carpeting for some time, and appears to receive his orders from the Department of Public Works (Mr. TWEED). His accounts have sometimes been as large as $200,000 and $300,000. As he appears on the County records only for the sum of $47,010.52, his later work, like his orders, must belong to the City branch of local administration. Whether the fact of the orders emanating from Mr. TWEED has any connection with the splendid carpets of the Metropolitan Hotel, cannot be exactly determined. In July last, Mr. GREGG was supplying carpets "right along" at the rate, he said, of $20,000 to $30,000 worth per month. Mr. GREGG describes his rival in the corporation business—J. A. SMITH—as a "new man." He was also very solicitous to have it understood that carpets in public offices wear out very quickly, and that the New York Bench has a very capricious taste on the subject of carpets—the judges requiring frequent change of pattern, of which their eyes become weary. It may be remembered, however, that Judge BARNARD stated in granting the injunction against the Mayor and Controller, that his room never had carpet at all.

WARD & STANTON.

WARD & STANTON, who furnished the iron flooring and received therefor the sum of $36,564.15, are manufacturers of steam-engines in Newburgh, where they own the Washington Works. They also furnished the Court-house with the stationary engine in the basement. They have an office in New York at No. 52 John street, where Mr. INGERSOLL visits them daily. ALONZO W. MARSH.

ALONZO W. MARSH appears to be a myth. There is no such man in the business; but there is CALEB P. MARSH, one of the firm of HERTER BROTHERS, a leading furniture house. HERTER BROTHERS have never supplied anything to Tammany, and they have no desire to do so. Mr. MARSH believes that the name is entirely fictitious, and has been chosen with a view to deceive persons who might glance at the accounts, and, seeing the name of MARSH, would take it for granted that it was a genuine transaction with HERTER BROTHERS.

NOTES AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

THE following explanations may be found of service in showing the full significance of the figures which we have tabulated as above. The eight millions of dollars paid on account of the New Court-house represent but a portion of the sums actually expended or due under this head. Previous to 1869 large sums were paid out for its construction, and subsequent to the date of the most recent of these warrants, payments have been made by the Commissioners lately appointed to complete the building. Sundry old claims for work and material furnished for this marvellous erection have been refused payment by the Controller. Among these is that of J. B. & W. W. CORNELL, for which they lately obtained a peremptory mandamus on Controller CONNOLLY.

The Court-house is built chiefly of stone and iron, and very little wood-work has been required in the construction. Such wooden fittings as there are in the interior of the building are of black walnut, but the workmanship is commonplace, and the general plainness of design gives a shabby effect to the whole. The eye of a practical carpenter would fail to detect over $30,000 worth of work in the entire structure. Nevertheless these warrants show that in the course of a little over two years there have been spent the enormous sum of $2,189,690.95 for carpenter-work and "repairs" of the same. The startling amounts paid out for "repairing" the work on a new building are, it need hardly be said, not the least mysterious feature of these accounts.

After the most liberal allowance has been made for carpenter-work, performed under obvious difficulties, we are confronted with the appalling charge of $1,575,782.96 for "Furniture." It is taking a very indulgent view of the case to suppose that it is only $1,500,000 too much.

The "Carpets, Shades, and Curtains" form an item capable of being approximately tested. The careful estimate of an eminent firm engaged in the carpet business, of what would actually be required to cover the floors very handsomely is $13,357.15. Add to this $3,000 for shades and cornices—curtains, there are none—and we find that in this item the tax-payers have been swindled out of $658,977.29. It must be remembered that even this estimate is greatly in advance of what the actual cost of the carpets must have been. This assumes that the rooms are fully carpeted, while the fact is that one of the largest rooms, that occupied by the Bureau of Arrears of Taxes, has no covering whatever on its floor. The County Clerk's office, Sheriff's office, and office of the Surrogate are not carpeted, but are covered with oil-cloth and matting, with the exception of the small private offices. Few of the other offices or court-rooms are carpeted throughout.

It is an astounding fact that upwards of half a million dollars should have been spent in plastering a building whose interior consists largely of iron. It is still more astounding that, in addition to this, $873,525.15 should have been spent in repairing this same plaster-work. But perhaps the most amazing fact of all is, that in spite of this stupendous outlay, the plastering is of the commonest description, and is at present peeled and blotched in the lower halls and elsewhere, and is almost uniformly dirty throughout. The work which has cost a little over one million four hundred thousand dollars would have been dear at $30,000.

SECTION II.

PRINTING, STATIONERY, AND ADVERTISING ACCOUNTS.

It will be observed that nearly three-fourths of the the grossly exorbitant expenditures, detailed below, have gone into the pockets of the New York Printing Company, the Manufacturing Stationers' Company, and the Transcript Association. It is pretty generally understood that these are but aliases of the omnivorous Tweed and one or two of his associates. In spite of the hocus-pocus of selling out which, according to the affidavit of CHARLES E. WILBOUR, terminated TWEED's partnership in the two former concerns, the public has not been credulous enough to believe that these firms have been patronized on their own merits. CHARLES E. WILBOUR officiates as President both of the Printing Company and the Stationers' Company, and CORNELIUS CORSON fills the position of Secretary in both. WILBOUR also acts as editor of the Transcript, which, as legal organ of the corporation, receives payments for advertising; of which the sum given below ($127,735.76), is a mere fraction. The paper is a miserable little sheet whose circulation certainly does not exceed 500 copies, and whose only constant readers are its proof-readers. The two individuals above named have risen, under the patronage of TWEED, from the rank of second-rate reporters on New York journals to positions of wealth and influence. Each of them draws, in addition to their business emoluments, the salaries of some half-dozen sinecures on both City and County Pay-Rolls amounting to at least $18,000 a year in both cases. Sundry Clerks of the New York Printing Company likewise draw large annual salaries from the City and County for a few weeks' work about election time.

MYTHICAL ARMORY.

No. 25 is a payment which the firm of INGERSOLL & WATSON have drawn for an indefinite period for an Armory which never had any existence save in their own imagination. At the designated number, 53 Chrystie street, no trace can be found of any rooms which have ever been used for military purposes. The building is in a wretched neighborhood in the rear of INGERSOLL & WATSON's store, 71 Bowery, and every door was occupied up to the 1st of May for various business purposes. This imaginary Armory costs $5,600 a year!

NEW LEASES.

No. 24, one of the latest Armory investments of the Ring, is not included in the above. The premises in question include the two upper floors of BRYANT's Minstrel Building on Twenty third street. They are utterly unfit even for a company, the lower one being broken up and divided by a series of iron stanchions, and the upper resembling a rudely constructed platform rather than a loft. Neither floor has either door or partition separating it from the stairs. For this receptacle of dust and cobwebs the City will pay from May 1, 1871, the sum of $7,500 a year.

A building is now in course of erection on the south side of Twenty-third street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, the upper part of which, when finished, is to be divided into Armories. The Eighth Regiment has already been promised an Armory in the building, and it has been stated on good authority, and without contradiction, that the rent has been running since May 1. The entire rent to be paid for the premises will not be less, it is believed, than $75,000 a year!
